Your child's hearing aid review

An appointment has been arranged for you to have your child's hearing aid fitting reviewed. This information explains what is involved.

There are a range of different methods that can be used to test your child's hearing with and without their hearing aids. This usually involves an audiologist playing a listening game with your child. As every child is different we will decide which method to use when you attend for the hearing aid review appointment.

The appointment will take an hour. To avoid distractions it is best not to have any other children in the clinic room during testing. You may wish to attend without other children or to have another adult with you who can look after any other children during testing.

We usually test your child's hearing with and without hearing aids shortly after you come into the test room giving you an opportunity after testing to discuss any concerns you may have about your child's hearing or hearing aids. We will discuss the results of the tests with you and you may ask any questions you have about the testing that has been carried out or the results.
