What happens at the Balance Clinic?

You have been referred for assessment in relation to dizziness or imbalance. This information leaflet explains what will happen.

The Balance Clinic specialises in inner ear balance disorders. There are many reasons why balance problems occur. We will be checking if your balance problems are occurring due to a problem with your inner ear balance organ. If this is the case we will discuss options to manage or treat the problem. If not, we will write back to the consultant who referred you to review your case.

Important information

- You are welcome to bring someone with you to your appointment.
- Sometimes patients feel a little unsteady after testing and like to have someone to take them home.
- If you have been prescribed medication for your balance problem please do not take this for two days before your appointment.
- Please do not drink alcohol for two days before your appointment as alcohol can stay in your body for some time and may affect your balance test results.
- Continue life-supporting medications such as those for heart, seizures, blood pressure, diabetes etc. Phone us on the number below if you are not sure about what medications to stop.
- Do not wear eye make-up (particularly mascara) – we record your eye movements during testing and this can stop our cameras from recording your eye movements properly.
- Do not eat for about 2 hours before testing as sometimes testing may cause nausea (feeling sick).

- Wear comfortable clothing as you may be required to move around during testing.
- If you do not follow these guidelines, we may not be able to complete the appointment.

Appointments

- At your first appointment we will discuss your balance difficulties and perform different balance tests. We will discuss the results of these tests with you and suggest management or treatment options.
- If we can help with your balance symptoms by performing a rehabilitation manoeuvre, we will complete this on the day of your assessment.
- If balance rehabilitation exercises are likely to help with your balance symptoms, we will instruct you on how to carry these out at home and provide written information about this.
- After your first appointment you may be discharged back to the consultant who referred you. Or we will arrange a follow-up appointment two – six weeks after you are given any exercises or manoeuvres to check on your progress (the length of time will depend on the type of exercises you have been given).

If you take any medication for your balance, please bring it to the appointments.
