Food Record

This record is to be completed on the instructions of a Dietitian to help in the assessment of your diet.

Name.....

Date of birth.....

Please complete the food intake record for days.

How to complete your food record;

- Record everything that is eaten throughout the day and night. This includes all meals, snacks, nibbles and drinks. Only record what is actually eaten, not what is served.
- Be as accurate as possible in recording the amount of food eaten – see table for more ideas on this.
- Remember to say how a food was cooked – was it fried, boiled, grilled, and where possible to include the recipe and how many this served.
- Include pack size and brand if it is a packet food, and how much of it was eaten by you. Include the label with ingredient list and nutrition content if available.
- Complete the food diary as you go along – don't try to remember at the end of the day or week.

Estimating amounts of food – useful tips:

Food	Useful measures
Bread	Record size of loaf and thickness of slice. Is it white or wholemeal? If a bread roll, how big was it or what length of baguette?
Breakfast cereal	Estimate number of tablespoons or serving spoons, or how many Weetabix, Shredded wheat etc.
Cake	Describe type of cake and size of piece eaten.
Chapatti	Record size and thickness and if any fat added to recipe or spread on before eating.
Drinks	Measure the amount of fluid your cup or glass holds. How much sugar is used in hot drinks? Is it ordinary or low calorie pop or squash?
Fish	What size piece / raw weight? Is it steamed or fried, battered, crumbed or in milk?
Fruit	Small medium or large, fresh or tinned (with juice or syrup)?
Meat	State raw weight if you know how much was bought. Or state size and thickness of raw or cooked piece. How was it cooked?
Pasta and rice	Specify if using raw or cooked measurement, e.g. half mug full raw rice, or 3 serving spoons boiled pasta. State if white or wholemeal.
Pie	Estimate size, or dimensions of piece, and was it pastry top and bottom or just top?
Stew, casserole, curry	Indicate how much meat, chicken or lentils etc., were in the portion eaten.
Vegetables	State number of serving spoons or tablespoons, and was butter or margarine added when served?
